

How our technology works.

❶ For each target, the fluorescence data is analysed and converted to a data point.

❷ By using the target label, the data point is correctly compared to the COR template data in order to classify the target.

❸ Quantification is calculated if relevant.